

2017 Study Guide

The Roman Republic

- Republic can be defined as a system of government in which the power rests with the citizens who are entitled to vote and is carried out by representatives chosen directly or indirectly by them.
- Rome was once a monarchy, ruled by kings. After the kings were ousted, Romans installed a representative, elected government.
- The government was headed by two consuls who were elected by the citizens and advised by the Senate.
- The Senate was made up of appointed figures from the aristocracy.
- The voting population was divided into two unequal classes, the patricians (upper-class landowners who held high goverment positions) and plebeians (commoners who could vote but not hold a position of power).
- A dictator could be elected in the case of civic emergency. Once the emergency had passed, power went back to the Senate.

Roman sculpture of Julius Caesar

HISTORICAL FIGURE

- Born: Gaius Julius Caesar July 13, 100 BC.
- Died: Assassinated in 44 BC by a group of senators.
- Accomplishments and Contributions: Adopted Julian Calendar/ General in Roman Army. Acquired new lands for Rome. Conducted first invasion of Britain. Was named dictator in perpetuity and ruled as such from January 26 or February 15 of the year 44 BC until his death on March 15.

William Shakespeare

SHAKESPEARE'S PLAY

• Written in 1599.

by William Shakespeare

Julius Caesar

- Condensed retelling of historical events.
- Influenced by Plutarch's accounts of Julius Caesar.
- Rebellion in ancient Rome resonated with political turmoil in England nearing the end of the reign of Queen Elizabeth.
- Universal themes of power, ambition, honor and loyalty.
- Even though the play is titled Julius Caesar, he only appears alive in three scenes.

Before seeing/reading the play

1. Research the history behind the people, story and events in the play. Who was Julius Caesar? What happened to Julius Caesar before the events of play? Who was Pompey? Who was Mark Antony? Who was Octavius Caesar? These and other websites provide information:

http://www.biography.com/people/julius-caesar-9192504 #assassination

http://www.roman-empire.net/emperors/augustus.html http://www.history.com/topics/ancient-history/ mark-antony

2. What is a plebeian? How much power did a plebeian hold in a republic? In a monarchy? In what way can plebeians become powerful in a government? In modern society, who would be classified as plebeian? These and other websites provide information: http://www.romanempire.net/romepage/PolCht/plebeians.htm http://www.ducksters.com/history/ancient_rome/plebeians_and_patricians.php

"When Caesar says, 'Do this,' it is performed."

3. Define ambition. What are the positive aspects of ambition? What are the negative aspects? When might ambition be dangerous?

4. Define honor. What role did the concept of honor play in ancient Rome? How does one gain or lose honor in Roman society? How does the attainment of honor or dishonor reflect one's status as an individual in society? How does a personal sense of honor different from a public sense of honor? These and other websites provide information: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dignitas_(Roman_concept)# Personal significance http://www.encyclopedia.com/philosophy-and-religion/ other-religious-beliefs-and-general-terms/miscellaneousreligion/honor#A

5. Define tragic flaw also known as hamartia. What type of characters does it traditionally relate to? What are the results of the tragic flaw? What do the resulting actions bring about in the audience? These and other websites provide information:

https://www.britannica.com/art/hamartia https://literarydevices.net/tragic-flaw/

6. What is a political conspiracy? What is needed for a political conspiracy to work? What are some examples of political conspiracies in history? This and other websites provide information:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_conspiracies_ (political) Research suicide in ancient Rome and in warrior culture. These and other websites provide information: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Forced_suicide#In_ancient_ Greece_and_Rome

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_suicide #Military_suicide

8. What and when is the Ides of March? What is a soothsayer? What is the Feast of Lupercal, or Lupercalia? These and other websites provide information: http://www.infoplease.com/spot/ides1.html https://www.britannica.com/topic/Lupercalia 2017 Julius Caesar costume renderings for Ensemble by Raquel Barreto.

9. Research rhetoric in Julius Caesar. When is it used? Why is it used? This and other websites provide information: https://www.bl.uk/shakespeare/articles/rhetoric-power-and-persuasion-in-julius-caesar

10. Julius Caesar was written in 1599, toward the end of Queen Elizabeth's reign in England. What was occurring politically in England in the late 1500s? This and other websites provide information:

http://www.sparknotes.com/biography/elizabeth/ section10.rhtml

Learn more about Shakespeare's life and times at the following websites:

http://www.absoluteshakespeare.com/trivia/biography/ shakespeare_biography.htm http://www.bardweb.net/man.html http://www.folger.edu/template.cfm?cid=865&CFID= 6230886&CFTOKEN=25420173

After seeing/reading the play

1. Who has the most power at the beginning of the play? What is the source of this power? When does power shift? Who does it shift to? How do these shifts of power occur? Who has the most power by the end of the play? What is the source of this power?

2. Refer to your research on honor and ambition. How can honor and a dishonorable act coexist? How might ambition and good intentions co-exist? How might they conflict?

3. What tension does Brutus feel between his personal loyalty to Caesar and his political ideals? Why do the conspirators need to win Brutus to their cause? What tactics does Cassius use to win over Brutus? Why does Brutus argue against killing Mark Antony?

4. What do the conspirators hope to gain by assassinating Caesar? How do the conspirators build their plot against him? How do their actions reveal the truth of their motives? In what situation, if any, might political assassination be justified?
5. Who has the strongest allegiances in the play? To what

5. Who has the strongest allegiances in the play? To what or to whom? How are these allegiances tested? Who proves their allegiance?

6. In what ways does the natural world reflect the disturbance in the political world of Rome? At what point in the play does the natural world seem to return to a peaceful state? What are the prophecies or supernatural signs that appear in the play? How are the supernatural signs interpreted? Who ignores or heeds these signs? Why? What types of supernatural events continue after Caesar's death? Which character's actions are ruled by fate? Which characters are driven by free will?

What themes are highlighted in our 2017 production? How does the setting and style of the production inform your understanding of Julius Caesar?

2017 Julius Caesar set model. Designed by Sibyl Wickersheimer.

7. Chart the motif of ears in the play by giving specific instances of overhearing, eavesdropping, spying and listening. What might Shakespeare be saying about words and the nature of listening? Which characters truly listen to each other? Which characters don't and to what effect?

8. Why is the play called Julius Caesar? Based on the characters who dominate the storyline, what are other possible titles of the play?

9. What are the heroic aspects of Caesar? What are his strengths? What are his physical weaknesses? Emotional weaknesses? Why does he often refer to himself in the third person? Why does Shakespeare both build up Caesar's accomplishments and point out his flaws? In what ways does the glorification of Caesar and his name lead to his eventual demise?

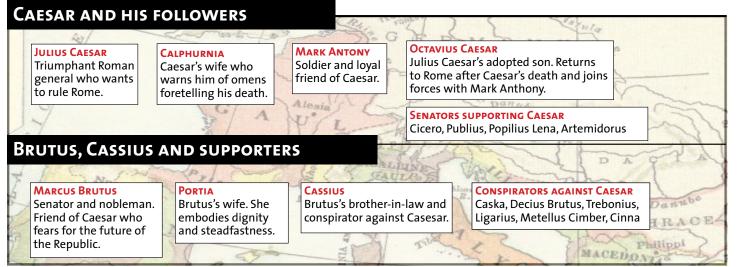

11. What are some of the differences between the public figure Julius Caesar and the private person? What does Julius Caesar represent to the plebeians? To the conspirators? To Mark Antony?

2017 Julius Caesar costume rendering for Julius Caesar by Raquel Barreto.

12. As Julius Caesar is surrounded by his assassins, he asks, "Et tu, Brute?" (You too, Brutus?) Why does Caesar single out Brutus? How does Brutus react and in what ways is it in line with their relationship? In what ways does the power of Caesar's name continue to grow after his assassination?

13. Why does Mark Antony pretend to be friends with the conspirators? What are his true intentions? What tactics does he use to carry out his intentions?

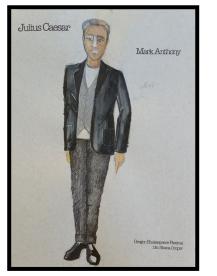

After seeing/reading the play continued

14. Refer to your research on rhetorical devices. Compare the orations of Brutus and Mark Antony after Caesar's death. What effect do they have on the plebeians' allegiances? Why does Mark Antony use the word "honorable" and "ambition" so many times? How do those words change in the speech? What makes the speech sincere? Ironic?

15. Refer to your research on tragic flaws. What is Caesar's tragic flaw? Brutus's? In what ways are their errors in judgment related to their relationships? In what ways are their errors in judgment tied to their aspirations and ideals?

16. Find descriptions in the dialogue of the common people or plebeians. What qualities does Shakespeare emphasize? To what do they respond positively? To what do they respond negatively?

2017 Julius Caesar costume rendering for Mark Anthony by Raquel Barreto.

17. Discuss Mark Antony's journey through the play. How does he rise to power? What do people say about him in the play? In what ways is he the defender of the people or an ambitious, opportunistic politician or both?

Roman territory map at the death of Julius Caesar

18. Compare and contrast Cassius and Brutus. What are some of their differences? Similarities? How would you describe each man's character? How would you describe their relationship? Who holds the power in their relationship? What is the source of this power? When does the power shift between them?

2017 Julius Caesar costume rendering for Marcus Brutus by Raquel Barreto.

19. Why do Cassius and Brutus clash in Brutus's tent in Act IV, scene iii? What faults do they reveal about themselves in this scene? What strengths? How do they resolve their difficulties? How is their relationship changed in the scene?

20. What is the significance of the appearance of Caesar's ghost? What does it portend? What other supernatural signs or omens continue to appear after Caesar's death?

21. Why does Mark Antony call Brutus "the noblest Roman of them all?" What are Brutus's noble qualities? Which of his qualities are less than noble?

22. Refer to your research on honor and suicide. Brutus falls on his own sword and commits suicide. How does contemporary American society view suicide? How is this view of suicide different from that of the ancient Romans? How does Brutus's view on suicide change in the play? What does this change say about him?

After seeing/reading the play continued

23. Who in this play acts honorably? How is loyalty portrayed in Julius Caesar? How has our definition of honor changed since ancient Roman times? Which characters stay true to what they have revealed about themselves throughout the play?

24. How do the strengths and flaws of Julius Caesar, Mark Antony, Brutus and Cassius drive the events of the play? What are some of the differences between their public lives and their private relationships with each other? How did their private relationships with each other strengthen or weaken their public lives?

2017 Julius Caesar costume rendering for Cassius by Raquel Barreto.

25. If you are seeing Henry IV, Part One and/or Henry IV, Part Two, compare the conspirators of Julius Caesar with those who are rebelling against King Henry. What does each group hope to gain by their actions? In what ways do they achieve their goals? In what ways do they fail?

26. If you are seeing Henry IV, Part Two, compare and contrast the betraval of Caesar by Brutus with the betraval of Mowbray by Prince John. What were the reasons for the betrayals? In what ways is the betrayal of Caesar justified? In what ways is the betrayal of Mowbray justified?

In what ways are Brutus and Prince John's intentions different? What do Brutus and Prince John's intentions and actions say about them as leaders?

27. If you are seeing Henry IV, Part One and Part Two, compare and contrast the friendship of Cassius and Brutus with Prince Henry and Falstaff. How would you characterize their friendships? In what ways are the friendships similar? Different? In what ways do the characters exhibit affection for one another? What is the source of their discord in their friendships and how is it resolved?

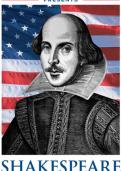

28. Compare the different opinions expressed in the plays regarding the concept of honor. What major points are being made about honor in Julius Caesar, and by whom? In Henry IV, and by whom?

29. If you are seeing Mojada: A Medea in Los Angeles, compare and contrast what Brutus and Medea want to pass on to the next generation, versus Caesar and Jason. In what ways is violence a part of Brutus and Medea's legacy? In what ways is it a part of Jason and Caesar's legacy? In what ways does Brutus justify his actions? Medea, her action? Jason, his actions? How do Jason and Caesar contribute to their own downfalls? What alternative actions could Brutus have taken toward Caesar and Medea toward Jason?

2017 Julius Caesar set model. Designed by Sibyl Wickersheimer.

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE

IN AMERICAN COMMUNITIE

Members of Oregon Shakespeare Festival Education created the "2017 Study Guide for Julius Caesar." These suggestions were designed for students and teachers but may be enjoyed by audiences of all ages. They may be used without restriction for educational purposes. The Oregon Shakespeare Festival is not responsible for the content of any website listed above.

[©] Oregon Shakespeare Festival. No part of the "2017 Study Guide for Julius Caesar" may be reproduced in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying or recording, or by an information storage and retrieval system, for professional or commercial purposes without permission in writing from the Oregon Shakespeare Festival Education.